But we brush aside, as unworthy, such unmanly sentiments, and declare now and here that the great mass of the Alliance, as organized in North Carolina, is as broad, progressive and aggressive and as patriotic as those who have not the privilege of entering our ranks. The efforts of the last General Assembly (which was a farmers' legislature in the sense that it was composed of farmers) to supply funds wherewith the State should be repre of the Alliance who patronize such sas and several other States to beat sented at Chicago, was an earnest, honest effort, based upon the judgment Order or its leaders, cease to patronize papers have never, not even in the of those best able to advise; it was the concensus of the best opinions then, that the direct tax fund would be available, or enough at least to meet the appropriation of $25,000, called for in the Act. That legislature was honest in trying to provide the necessary means for this most important step. The farmers who composed that body said the State could not afford to miss this greatest of all opportunities. They meant it then and they mean it now, though the effort has been abortive. So far as we are informed, the direct tax fund will not be available at allcould not be for six years, were it all left in the treasury. The State Board of World's Fair Managers have met and proposed private subscription. This strikes us now as impracticable. It would, in such event, be the town that gave the most, on top. What the people want is a real representation of all the resources of the State set in the most attractive manner.

The Farmers' Department, under the control of the State Board of Agri culture, has heretofore borne the whole burden of holding expositions; that for their time to be extended to the board went to Atlanta, to Bo ton, to next county meeting before reporting.
